Wood Rounds And Crotches For Turners (Plano)

I operate a sawmill and end up with a decent amount of un-millable wood - usually branches or small trunks. Currently I'm in the process of cutting it into manageable pieces that would be good for wood turners with a bit more processing.

To comply with social distancing guidelines I will be putting it out on pallets where you can drive up, take what you want, and drive off. Or, if the pieces are not quite manageable for you, I can load them while you wait in the car.

As of right now (8PM on 3/31) I have Elm, Live Oak, Pine, Red Oak, and Bradford Pear ready to go.
